INTRODUCTION

There was a stunning divergence between the major global markets and their respective central bank policies for the year. While the U.S. economy produced signs of a sustained rebound, overseas the Eurozone and Japanese economies stagnated or entered into a recession. Even China, once the envy in terms of economic growth, witnessed a slowdown from its normal robust growth. Central bankers enacted or curtailed monetary policies based on their respective country outlooks.

The U.S. equity market, as measured by the S&P 500, rose 11.4 percent last year and produced the widest performance spread over non-U.S. equity markets in seventeen years. The global markets experienced several geopolitical and macroeconomic events in 2014. The Russian annexation of the Crimea region in Ukraine raised deep concern in Eastern Europe. This action led to sanctions against Russia which in turn hindered European exports. Throughout the year, there continued to be conflicts between Ukraine and Russian-backed separatists.

In the last half of the year, oil prices plummeted approximately 46 percent. Oil excess supply collided with dampening demand associated with slumping global growth. The supply glut emerged as a result of U.S. shale production and OPEC's refusal in November to curtail output. The drop in oil prices could be viewed as a net positive for global growth. Net winners would be oil importers such as Europe, China and Japan. Oil exporters like the Middle East, Russia and Venezuela will be hurt. The U.S. consumer and certain companies benefit but the energy sector suffers.

The University's treasury and investment staff continued to implement the asset allocation revisions approved by the Board in January 2011. The University funded two new real estate managers in the Endowment Pool. These manager additions help form the pool's seven percent real estate allocation. These investments are designed to provide income, appreciation and guard against inflation. The University conducted a request for information for a Minority, Women and Disabled-Owned Business Enterprise (MWDBE) Manager of Emerging Manager U.S. Equity mandate. Finalists were interviewed in house and a manager was selected. There are currently seven MWDBE sub-advisors in this program. There were no manager terminations in the Endowment Pool in 2014.

Staff has continued to enhance the manager monitoring and due diligence program enacted in 2013. Investment managers are assigned risk ratings through a risk assessment framework. The ratings drive the frequency of interaction with each manager. Staff conducted fifty formal performance reviews with investment managers in 2014. In addition, each manager completed an annual due diligence questionnaire specific to their respective mandates. These are reviewed by staff and discussed in detail with the managers. Enhancements in late 2014 centered on the development of more sophisticated and quantitative components to the program. A risk dashboard is currently in development. This dashboard provides real time risk and performance information and allows staff to aggregate investment exposures in ways previously not available.

According to the 2014 NACUBO-Commonfund Study of Endowments (NCSE), for the period ending June 30, 2014, the University's 15.7 percent one-year return beat the survey's average 15.5 percent return. The table below compares the University Endowment performance relative to its peers in the one-, three-, five- and ten-year time periods.

Table 1

	UI Endowment Pool		NCSE Average		25th Percentile
1 Year	15.7%	>	15.5%	<	17.2%
3 Year	11.0%	>	9.0%	>	9.8%
5 Year	15.1%	>	11.7%	>	12.7%
10 Year	7.6%	>	7.1%	<	7.7%

This report details the University's $3.1 billion investment program. The assets are segmented according to accounting fund categories: endowment, current, plant, and other. These fund groups represent the majority of the University's assets. The historical growth of the funds is provided as well as the investment makeup at December 31, 2014.

A detailed security inventory list and fee schedule is also provided.

ECONOMIC SUMMARY

The U.S. economy strengthened during the second half of 2014 relative to first half performance. The year's growth outlook started poorly due to the effects of unusually harsh winter weather which contributed to a decline in first quarter economic output. First quarter gross domestic product fell 2.1 percent on an annualized basis, the largest decline since March 2009. However, the economy rebounded for the remaining quarters during the year. The most impressive growth period occurred in the third quarter as GDP rose 5.0 percent, the largest three month gain in eleven years. For all of 2014, the U.S. economy grew at a 2.6 percent annualized growth rate, somewhat higher than the 2013 growth rate of 2.2 percent. The last three quarters of 2014 average economic growth measured 4.1 percent, which is the best nine month period since March 2004.

Job growth was a key contributor to last year's overall economic performance. An additional 2.95 million workers were added to the nation's payrolls for 2014. Payroll increases averaged 246 thousand a month last year and was the best calendar year for employment gains since 1999. The nation's unemployment rate dropped to 5.6 percent from 6.7 percent in 2013. One troubling employment figure was the labor force participation rate. December's participation rate of 62.7 percent was among the lowest reported since 1978.

Consumers were another positive contributor to economic growth. Consumer spending accounts for approximately seventy percent of the country's economic output. Consumer spending advanced at a 4.3 percent rate in the fourth quarter, the fastest pace since the first quarter of 2006. For 2014, consumer spending rose 2.5 percent. Consumer sentiment measures also provided positive economic signals. The University of Michigan Consumer Sentiment Index reached 98.2 in December; its highest level since a reading of 103.8 in January 2004. Consumer attitudes were also bolstered by the sharp drop in the price of gasoline.

This post-recession recovery lags previous rebounds. The Wall Street Journal reported that economic growth over the last twenty-two quarters averaged 2.4 percent. This growth rate is averaging less than previous post recession recoveries. Growth rates for a similar period from the '75, '82 and '91 recessions averaged 4.0 percent. Although the recovery rate of growth may be below historical norms, it still exceeded that of other major developed countries.

Overseas economies exhibited different trends from that of the U.S. While the U.S. experienced some of the highest quarterly growth rates in years, the Eurozone economy struggled and registered 0.9 percent GDP growth in 2014. In response, the European Central Bank lowered its benchmark lending rate to 0.05 percent. The sputtering economy reignited deflationary fears dragging down core bond yields to record lows. The German 5-year bond yield finished the year at 0.02 percent. Shorter term bond yields traded in negative territory indicating that market participants were willing to pay in order to invest funds. It was widely expected that the ECB would enact further quantitative easing measures in a €1.0 trillion bond buying program to stimulate economic activity and combat deflation. Deflation can hinder an economy as consumers delay purchases in the hope of future lower prices and corporate profit margins suffer.

The Japanese economy fell into a technical recession with negative gross domestic product activity in the second and third quarters of 2014. In addition, Japanese government bonds were downgraded to A1, reflecting the nation's total government debt and aging demographics. To combat the poor trends, the Bank of Japan, in October, increased its massive asset purchase program to an unprecedented ¥80 trillion (U.S. $700 billion) per year. The central bank also directed its Government Pension Investment Fund to purchase an additional ¥9.8 trillion ($86 billion) of domestic stock.

According to Barron's, China's economy grew 7.4 percent last year, the slowest growth rate in nearly a quarter of a century. The Wall Street Journal described the factors limiting growth to be housing surplus, soaring debt and overcapacity in many industries. The People's Bank of China provided a November interest rate cut, its first such reduction in two years. Despite the relative sluggish growth, the Chinese stock market was up 50 percent in 2014.

This next section concentrates on the bond market environment. The University has approximately 81 percent of assets invested in fixed income and cash equivalents.

Figure 1 displays the U.S. Treasury yield curve for the 12/31/2013 (tan line) and 12/31/2014 (dark green line) time periods. The bond market defied beginning of the year forecasts when most investors expected higher interest rates along the yield curve. As the graph shows, intermediate-term and long-term treasury yields fell in 2014. The 10-year Treasury yield declined 83 basis points while the 30-year yield fell 120 basis points. Shorter maturity interest rates moved slightly higher as expectations grew that the Federal Reserve might eventually increase policy rates.

CENTRAL BANK POLICY

The Federal Reserve began the process of winding down the unprecedented monetary policies enacted after the Financial Crisis. The Fed ended its bond buying program, otherwise known as quantitative easing, in October. This marks the first time in over a decade where central bank policy was diverging at the global level. In their Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) December statement, the Fed removed the “considerable” time language and indicated it would be “patient” in normalizing the stance of monetary policy. These actions and comments led investors to speculate as to the timing of an eventual interest rate hike. Forecasters are pointing to a mid-summer or fall 2015 timetable for the first interest rate increase since 2006.

MARKET ENVIRONMENT AND UNIVERSITY ENDOWMENT POOL

The discussion that follows focuses on the financial market environment. We will review the performance of different market indices over various intervals since it is useful to examine multiple time periods. The longer term trend reinforces the prudence of maintaining policy allocations during short term market disruptions. This practice has especially been reinforced with market performance since the Financial Crisis era (2008-09). The University's Endowment assets are invested and viewed with a long term time horizon. Chart 1 below addresses the twenty-seven year time frame that followed the 1987 market crash and resulting market performance that contained multiple booms and busts. These historical time periods provide some perspective to the 2014 market.

Chart 1

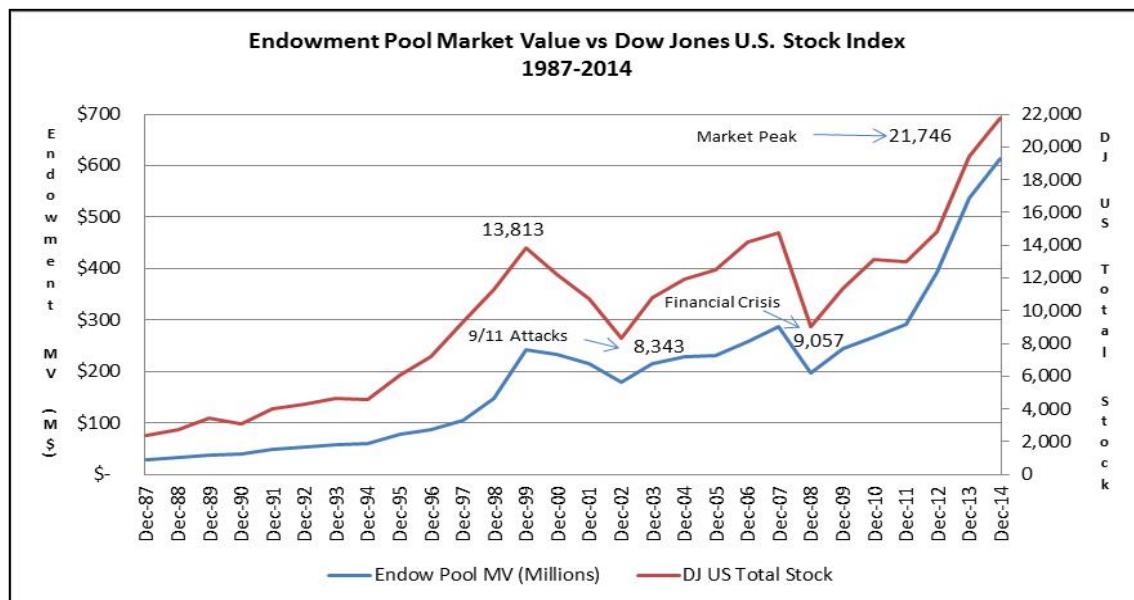

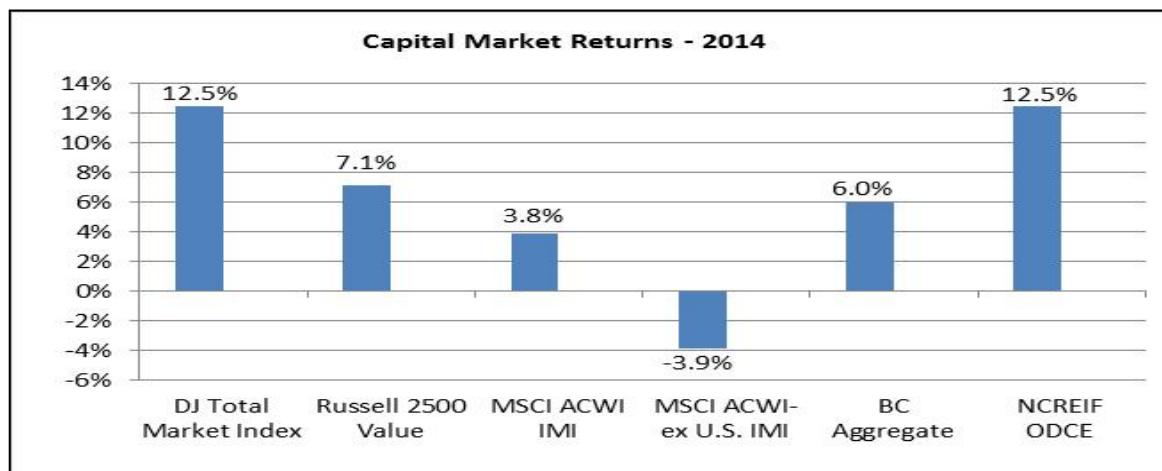

Chart 1 plots calendar year values from December 31, 1987, to December 31, 2014. As shown, the Endowment Pool has grown from roughly $29.4 million at the end of 1987 to its highest value last year at $613 million. The index value starting at 2,417 in December 1987 rose to a near record 21,740 on December 31, 2014. This is a dramatic increase from the cyclical low of 9,057 during the Financial Crisis period. The shape of the trend lines representing the endowment market value and the Dow Jones stock index follow similar patterns through the market's ebbs and flows.

CAPITAL MARKET RETURNS – 2014

Capital market returns were driven by Central Bank policy and economic growth prospects. Accommodative monetary policies fueled a dramatic decline in global bond yields. These policies moved investors out on the risk curve/spectrum in order to achieve higher returns. Non-U.S. markets suffered from concerns about economic growth, deflation and the U.S. dollar currency effect.

Chart 2 – Capital Market Returns

See Appendix for market index definitions

Chart 2 displays key capital market index returns for 2014. The capital market indices represented are: U.S. stocks – DJ Total Stock Market Index and Russell 2500 Value; Global Stocks – MSCI All Country World IMI Index; Non-U.S. stocks – MSCI All Country World ex U.S. IMI Index; Fixed Income – Barclays Capital Aggregate Bond Index; and Real Estate – NCREIF Index. These indexes were selected because they represent the benchmarks of University investment managers. As shown above, the 2014 asset class returns, excluding non-U.S. stocks, were positive across the board. U.S. stocks and real estate delivered the highest returns. Bonds rebounded from last year's negative performance and posted a positive six percent return.

University of Illinois Investment Summary

University investment assets are classified according to the following fund accounting categories: Current, Endowment, Plant, and Other. Table 2 outlines the book and market values of each category. In the endowment category, the investments are also listed by asset class. In the following pages, we provide more information on the total investment program and each fund category.

As the above table shows, current funds represent a majority of University funds accounting for 66 percent of total University funds. Endowment funds account for 22 percent of total University funds. The chart on the next page illustrates how the fund category balances have evolved over time.

GROWTH OF UNIVERSITY INVESTMENTS

The shaded area chart below shows the growth in the University investment program from 2000 to 2014. The largest portion of the program has been and continues to be current funds which incorporate agency funds, operating funds and separately invested funds. This area is represented by the blue shaded part of the graph. It shows a sharp spike in value after the financial crisis of 2009 and pushed total investments past $3.1 billion. The yellow area signifies plant fund balances. The plant fund balances rise as capital projects are initiated through bond issuance. As the plant funds for construction facilities and projects are expended, the balances decline. The green area represents the endowment fund. The endowment fund has experienced significant growth due to cash flows from the Operating Pool and overall capital market returns. Other funds are shown by the red area; a majority of these funds are beneficial interests in trust arrangements where a third party manages funds that provide income to the University.

Chart 3

University of Illinois Investments
By Accounting Classification 2000 - 2014

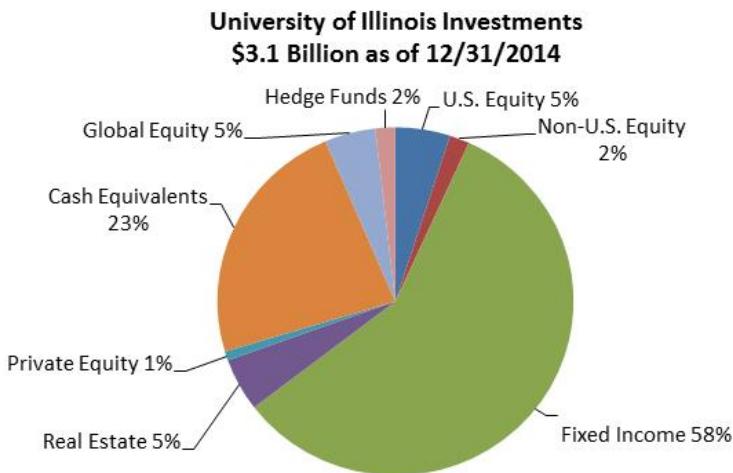

TOTAL UNIVERSITY INVESTMENTS BY ASSET CLASS

The University invests all available funds based on the objective and time horizon. The University attempts to pool assets whenever possible to achieve efficient administration and investment flexibility.

Chart 4 below shows University investments according to asset class.

The Operating Pool, which comprises approximately 65 percent of the University's assets, invests in fixed income (bonds) and money market funds. These investments produce income and provide primary and secondary sources of liquidity to meet anticipated cash flow needs. The fixed income mandates allow our program to invest in the short maturity bonds to earn a higher rate of return. The money market funds' yields are minimal due to the Federal Reserve's current monetary policy of federal funds rate of 0.0 – 0.25 percent. The Operating Pool also maintains a permanent core investment in the Endowment Pool. This long term investment enhances operating pool returns and is shown in Chart 5 on the following page. The Endowment Pool invests more in equity and other assets that will provide long term growth.

TOTAL ENDOWMENT INVESTMENT SUMMARY

Endowment funds are received from a donor with the restriction that the principal is not expendable. An endowment is designed to provide support to the institution in perpetuity. The University Endowment Funds are grouped into Endowment Pool and separately invested endowments. Separately invested endowments have restrictions in gift language, limitations on how the funds can be invested, or the gift is non-marketable. As chart 5 on the following page shows, Endowment Pool assets account for approximately eighty-nine percent of the total endowment while non-endowment pool farm assets total eleven percent. The remainder represents separately invested endowments.

Chart 5Chart 6

The investment of endowment funds is governed by the Uniform Prudent Management of Institutional Funds Act (UPMIFA) according to State statute. Chart 6 above reflects the University's total endowment asset allocation at December 31, 2014. The University's asset allocation is unique due to its farmland allocation, which is the result of the generous farm gifts to the University. The University has further diversified by adding hedge fund, core real estate and global equity mandates while reducing its U.S. equity allocation.

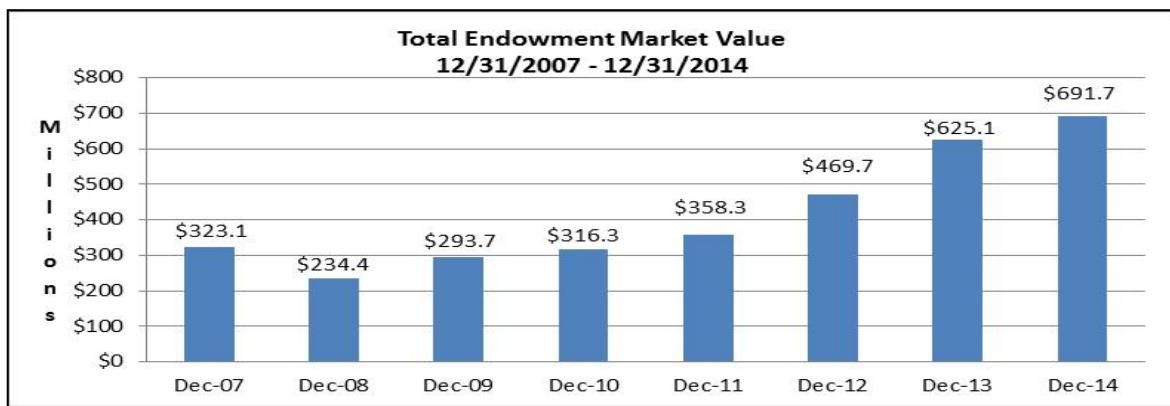

Chart 7

Chart 7 above reflects the University's total endowment market value from December 31, 2007, through December 31, 2014. The sharp drop from 2007 to 2008 illustrates the difficult financial market environment that emanated from the global financial crisis during that time. The rebound from 2009 to 2014 signifies the relative improvement in market performance discussed earlier in the Market Environment and additions from the Operating Pool.

Table 3 – Summary Endowment Pool Activity FY10-14 (in millions)

Beginning Value (7/01/2009)	$205
Gifts/Transfers	$239
Spending	($90)
Appreciation	$234
Ending Value (6/30/2014)	$588

Table 3 to the left provides a summary of endowment pool activity for the previous five fiscal years. During that time, the pool funded $90 million in spending for scholarships, faculty and support. Capital market performance accounted for $234 million in appreciation and income. Gifts and transfers totaled $239 million with the majority being permanent core operating funds transfers.

ENDOWMENT POOL

The Endowment Pool is a single pool of assets in which a majority of private endowment gifts are invested. The pool utilizes unitized endowment accounting whereby each endowment owns a number of units in the pool. Thus, the Endowment Pool closely resembles a mutual fund.

The Endowment Pool policy embraces the total-return investment concept. The focus is to preserve the real value, or purchasing power, of Endowment Pool assets over the long term. This concept is diagrammed below:

REQUIRED RETURN	EQUALS =	RATE OF PURCHASING POWER LOSS	PLUS +	SPENDING RATE
--------------------	-------------	-------------------------------------	-----------	------------------

This equation defines the endowment concept of “intergenerational equity”. That is, the ‘fund’ desires to spend as much as possible on the programs that it is funding today (spending rate), but to exist in perpetuity, it must preserve the purchasing power of its principal. Thus, the investment program attempts to balance current need and future support so that any endowed University program will receive the same financial support in the future that it receives today.

Endowment Pool Asset Allocation

Charts 8 and 9 below show the actual Endowment Pool asset allocation compared to the long term target asset allocation. Two new real estate managers were funded in 2014. Private equity will take time reach its target allocation. University staff and our investment consultant created an investment pacing schedule that forecasts reaching the private equity target in 2018.

The University Endowment Pool has established ranges around each asset class and rebalances periodically to ensure compliance with investment policy.

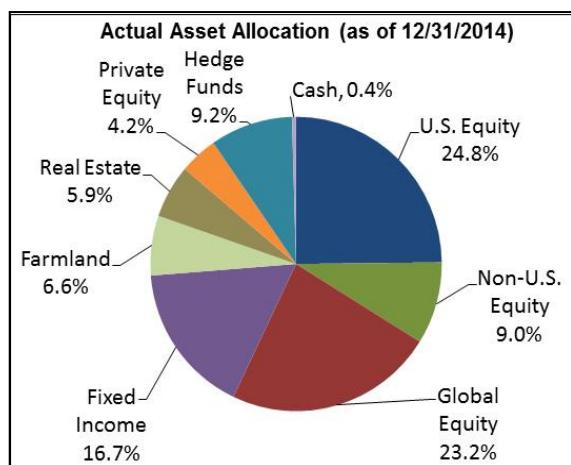

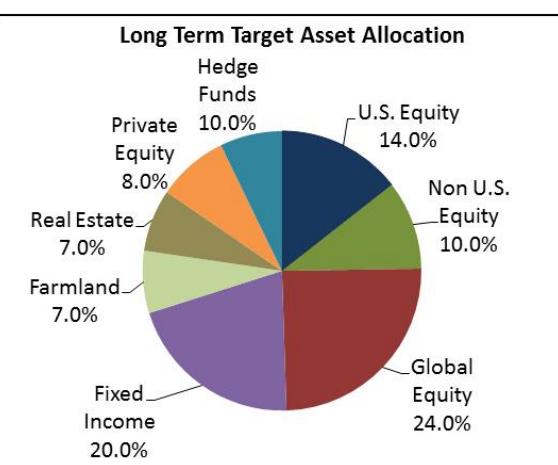

Chart 9

The endowment portfolio is broadly diversified across and within asset classes to enhance return prospects while operating within acceptable risk tolerance levels. The University's actual Endowment Pool asset allocation would be considered conservative relative to our peer group. Alternative strategies, comprised of farmland and real estate, hedge funds and private equity, make up nearly 26 percent of actual allocation as compared to the 2014 NACUBO – Commonfund Study of Endowments (NCSE) average alternatives allocation of 51 percent. The University's long term asset allocation target to alternative strategies is 32 percent.

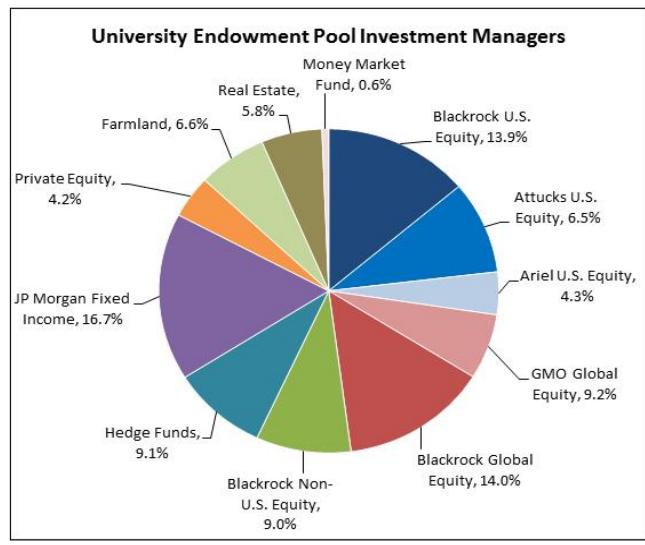

Chart 10 highlights the Endowment Pool investment managers and their respective percentages of the pool. Adams Street Partners accounts for 92 percent of the private equity program.

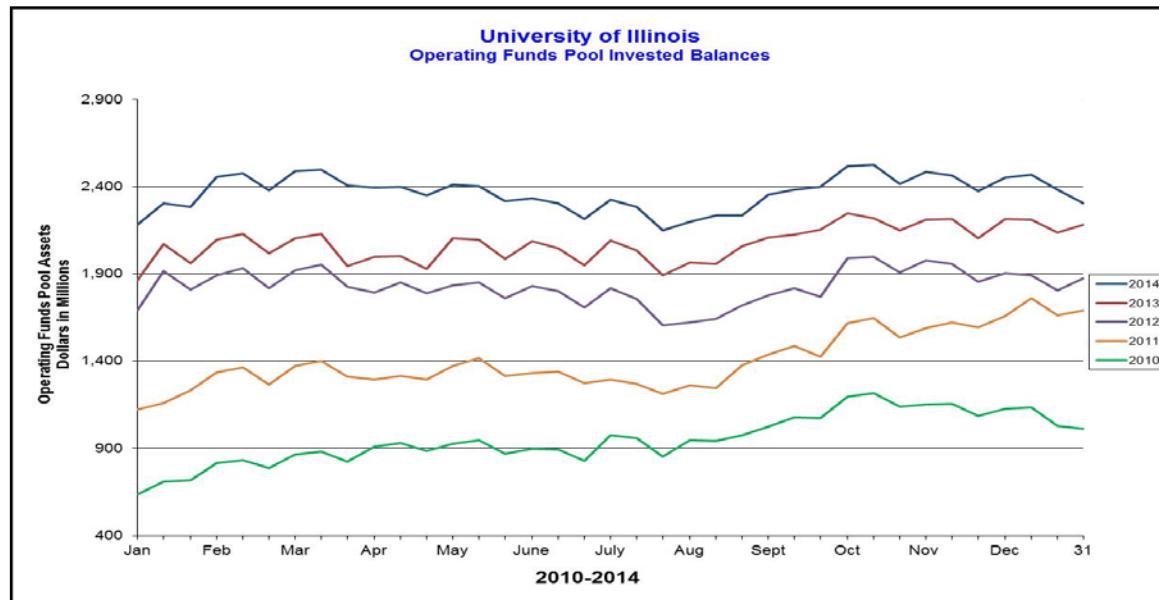

The hedge fund managers consist of AQR, Brevan Howard, and Davidson Kempner. Real estate is represented by Heitman HART and Prudential PRISA as core real estate vehicles while we are also invested in the Vanguard REIT fund.

CURRENT FUNDS

Current Funds is the accounting fund category that includes the Operating Funds Pool, Agency Funds and Separately Invested Current Funds. For the purposes of this section, we will concentrate on the Operating Funds Pool as it represents the majority of Current Fund assets.

The Operating Funds Pool represents the investment of available University working capital. The line chart below demonstrates the growth of assets over the last five years.

The different colored lines represent calendar years 2010 – 2014. Please note that the graph includes balances invested in various banks to compensate for banking services and the operating pool's investment in the endowment pool. The overall growth over the last five years has averaged an annualized 20 percent. For 2014, balances peaked at a high of $2.5 billion in October and troughed in July at $2.1 billion. Last year's trend follows the trend from the previous three years. Balances have typically accelerated from the fall tuition payment time period. The cash flow valleys appear at the beginning of the calendar year and during the summer time period. Recent tuition increases and budgetary measures have resulted in the increasing operating pool balances.

OPERATING FUNDS POOL DISTRIBUTION BY INVESTMENT MANAGER

Chart 12 provides a historical representation of the assets in the Operating Funds Pool. It shows the distribution among the investment managers starting in 2000 and ending in 2014. This demonstrates investment manager allocations over time.

Chart 12

The bottom layers represent the core of the Operating Pool; these balances stay relatively consistent through time. The yellow layer consists of the Operating Pool's investment in the University's longer maturity Endowment Pool. This area has increased since 2009 due to market appreciation and cash transfers from the operating fund into Endowment Pool. Core operating funds, the purple layer, are generally not needed for liquidity purposes. Thus, the core area is invested in longer maturity investments to earn a higher return. The red layer represents the Liquid Core bucket. The blue area represents the primary liquidity segment of the Operating Pool. This area includes money market funds and enhanced cash managers. These funds will generally be expended within one year and are invested in money market instruments and very short term securities to ensure they are available without material risk of market value fluctuation.

OPERATING FUNDS POOL DIVERSIFICATION

The charts below highlight the Operating Funds Pool diversification. In this analysis, the Operating Pool investment in the Endowment Pool is excluded and the focus is on the money market funds and bond managers.

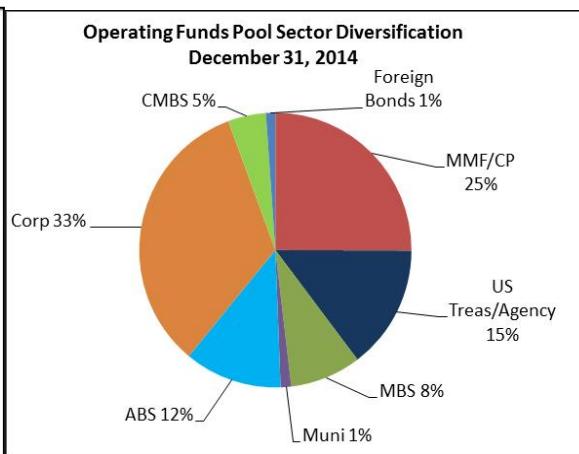

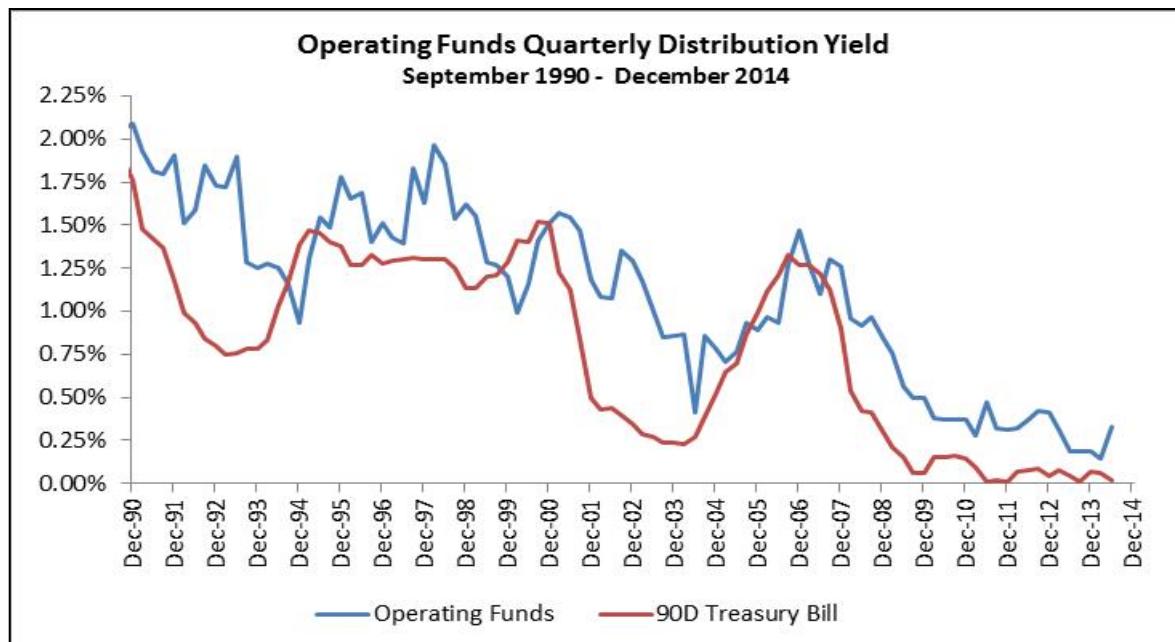

Chart 13 designates the fixed income managers of the pool, as of December 31, 2014, and demonstrates the manager diversification. The University's primary liquidity consists of the government only money market funds and enhanced cash product managers – Neuberger Berman, JP Morgan and Wells Capital. The University's money market funds are invested in Treasury and agency securities. The enhanced cash products enable the University to earn a higher return than money market funds while limiting maturity risk. The liquid core layer is made up of Northern Trust Short Duration, Galliard Capital, Income Research and Management and Wells Capital. The core manager is Neuberger Berman. The overall credit quality of the portfolio is quite high with a majority of the securities rated triple A or better. The University maintains significant cash balances to guard against a scenario where State funds are not received.

Chart 14 displays the fixed income sectors where managers invest. The fixed income managers seek out sectors with the best return and risk attributes. In addition, their portfolios are invested broadly across the different sectors for diversification purposes. Corporate bonds represent the largest allocation at 33 percent. Money market funds and commercial paper total 25 percent and are the next highest position.

OPERATING FUNDS POOL DISTRIBUTION YIELD

Chart 15 below highlights the Operating Funds Pool quarterly distribution yield relative to the 90-Day Treasury Bill Index from September 1990 to December 2014. The Operating Funds Pool distribution yield consists of the portfolio's quarterly income plus or minus realized gains and losses.

As shown in Chart 15, the Operating Funds Pool distribution yield has consistently exceeded that of the 90-Day Treasury Bill Index. There have been three multi-quarter periods when the pool's yield fell short of the index's yield. The general pattern is the pool outperforms in a stable and/or falling interest rate environment. Conversely, the pool's investment structure makes it more difficult to succeed in a rising interest rate environment or when bond spreads widen significantly. The Federal Reserve's zero interest rate policy has resulted in the low rate environment of the past few years. This has given the distribution yield an advantage over treasury bills due to the investment managers investing their portfolios in non-treasury securities.

The yield advantage defined as the portfolio's distribution yield minus the index yield has been a cumulative 31.8 percent for the 1990 to 2014 period. This equates to an average 0.32 percent advantage each quarter. For example, a $100,000 investment in the Operating Funds Pool would have grown to $291,396 while the same amount invested in the Treasury Bill index grew to $212,543. Thus, the Operating Funds Pool has achieved its investment objective by exceeding the Treasury Bill index. In 2014, the distribution yield was 0.98 percent compared to a 90-day Treasury Bill 0.18 percent yield.

PLANT FUNDS

Plant funds consist of construction funds, bond and interest sinking funds and debt service reserve funds. Construction funds represent bond issue proceeds that are utilized for a particular acquisition, building project or maintenance of the University's physical plant. Bond and interest sinking funds include reserves for interest and principal payments and other debt service charges relating to plant fund indebtedness. Similarly, debt service reserve funds include contributions to separate funds for the purpose of meeting maximum remaining debt payments on specific bond issues.

Index Definitions

DJ U.S. Total Stock Market Index

A capitalization-weighted stock index representing all domestic common stocks traded regularly on the organized exchanges. The Index is the broadest measure of the aggregate domestic stock market.

Russell 2500 Value Index

An index that measures the performance of those Russell 2500 companies with lower price-to-book ratios and lower forecasted growth values.

Barclays Capital Aggregate Bond Index

A market value-weighted index consisting of the Barclays Capital Credit, Government, and Mortgage-Backed Securities Indices. The Index also includes credit card, auto, and home equity loan-backed securities. This Index is the broadest available measure of the aggregate U.S. fixed income market.

NCREIF Property Index

A capitalization-weighted index of the average of income-producing properties representing $409 billion in real estate assets of 12/31/2014.

MSCI All-Country World IMI Index

This index captures large, mid and small cap representation across 23 Developed and 23 Emerging Markets countries. With 8,594 constituents, the index covers approximately 99% of the global equity investable opportunity set.

MSCI All-Country World Ex-U.S. IMI Index

The index captures large, mid and small cap representation across 23 Developed Market countries, excluding the U.S., and 23 Emerging Markets countries. With 6,092 constituents, the index covers approximately 99% of the global equity opportunity set outside the U.S.

MSCI EAFE Index

A capitalization-weighted index of stocks representing 21 developed markets in Europe, Australia, Asia and the Far East. With 6,092 constituents, the index covers approximately 99% of the free float-adjusted market capitalization in each country.

BC 90-Day T-Bill Index

Consists of U.S. Treasury Bills maturing in 90 days.
