Establish a Minor in Nutrition, Chicago

The Chicago Senate has approved a proposal from the Department of Kinesiology and Nutrition in the College of Applied Health Sciences to provide a Minor in Nutrition to students enrolled in undergraduate majors other than Human Nutrition. The minor will be offered to undergraduate students seeking a coherent program of study in the science of nutrition and the relationship between nutrients and human health. The availability of a Minor in Nutrition is especially desirable to students in other majors with a career goal in the health sciences. The minor requires 17 semester hours of coursework.
