Dr. King asked Dr. Robert A. Barish, vice chancellor for health affairs, Chicago, to make opening remarks. Dr. Barish commented on the UI Health Specialty Care Building and Welcome Atrium and referred to the Mile Square Health Center Auburn Gresham Healthy Lifestyle Hub ribbon cutting. He stated that a presentation on surgical innovation would be made later in the meeting by Dr. Pier Cristoforo Giulianotti, Lloyd Nyhus Professor of Surgery, chief, Division of Minimally Invasive, General and Robotic Surgery, University of Illinois College of Medicine, and he described some of Dr. Giulianotti’s many accomplishments. Dr. Barish concluded his remarks and showed an advertising campaign featuring UI Health and the Specialty Care Building.

REPORTS

Hospital and Clinics Chief Executive Officer Report

Dr. King asked Mr. Michael B. Zenn, chief executive officer, University of Illinois Hospital and Clinics; Dr. Susan Bleasdale, chief quality officer, University of Illinois
Hospital and Clinics; and Dr. Tiesa Hughes Dillard, chief nursing officer, University of Illinois Hospital and Clinics, to give the hospital and clinics chief executive officer report (materials on file with the secretary). Mr. Zenn gave an overview of the UI Health Specialty Care Building project, including the budget and schedule. He noted that Business Enterprise Program (BEP) goals were imbedded into the project and exceeded the 30 percent goal. He highlighted the impact on the local workforce and said the building was deemed an LEED Gold certified project. Mr. Zenn discussed the benefits of the public-private partnership (P3) approach and highlighted aspects of the Welcome Atrium and its connection to the Specialty Care Building. He recognized Mr. David H. Loffing, former chief operating officer; Mr. Scott Jones, chief ambulatory officer; and Dr. Mark I. Rosenblatt, dean, University of Illinois College of Medicine, for their contributions to the project.

Dr. Bleasdale then gave an update on quality and safety and presented a quality and safety transformation time line, noting that efforts that are currently underway will impact Star and Leapfrog ratings in two years. She reported on the goals of a short-term time frame and listed key deliverables, emphasizing the importance of accountability. Dr. Bleasdale showed True North quality metrics and listed key improvements.

Next, Dr. Hughes Dillard gave a nursing services update and showed progress in reducing the number of patient falls, hospital acquired pressure injuries, and rate of perioperative pulmonary embolism or deep veinous thrombosis. She reported on current and near-term nursing initiatives and gave an update on the hospital’s goal to achieve Magnet status designation, stating the application will be submitted in January 2024. Ms. Craig Schilling inquired about the value of Magnet status, and Dr. Hughes Dillard stated that it is reflective of excellent, high-quality care provided at a hospital. Mr. Zenn added that it impacts recruitment and is an integrated approach to improving care.

Mr. Zenn then presented the financial results for Fiscal Year 2023 through August 2022 and highlighted the operating margin and increase in fund balance. He reported on days of cash on hand and unrestricted and internally restricted cash and investments, and he presented key comparison ratios for health system bond rating medians for A-rated hospitals. Mr. Zenn referred to a report from the American Hospital Association, The Current State of Hospital Finances: Fall 2022 Update, which he said declared 2022 the worst financial year for hospitals since the start of the COVID-19 pandemic. Mr. Zenn said that high costs, capacity issues, particularly in emergency departments, drug shortages, and renovations that are necessary to meet Americans with Disabilities Act guidelines are putting a strain on hospitals. He shared information from the report and said that the financial results he presented today are not being experienced by many hospitals throughout the country. Mr. Gutman asked what makes the University of Illinois Hospital different, and Mr. Zenn stated that the low use of contract nurses, an aggressive approach to managed care reimbursement, and the UI Health brand have had a positive impact.
At 1:15 p.m., Dr. King asked Dr. Raymond Curry, senior associate dean for educational affairs, University of Illinois College of Medicine, to give the Graduate Medical Education Report (materials on file with the secretary). Dr. Curry stated that this report is provided at the request of the Board and to fulfill Accreditation Council for Graduate Medical Education (ACGME) requirements, and that the written report was provided to members of the committee. He described the size and scope of the program and said that many residents remain in the state, with some joining the faculty. Dr. Curry highlighted an analysis of data related to recruitment of trainees from groups historically excluded from the profession and said that efforts to enhance diversity have begun to significantly narrow the diversity gap between the Graduate Medical Education trainee cohort and the population of the primary service area. He provided data in support of these statements. Dr. Curry then mentioned a new partnership for pediatric care between UI Health and Cook County Health, which he said provides increased access to pediatric services for the community and strengthens the educational relationship with Cook County Health. He gave an update on the Peoria campus’s plan for a second family medicine residency and said that since the report was submitted to the Board, the program has received preliminary accreditation from the ACGME and will be recruiting residents for the next application cycle. Dr. Curry said this residency will be based at the OSF St. Joseph Medical Center in Bloomington. He acknowledged the 50th anniversaries of the Rockford and Peoria campuses, as well as the 75th anniversary of the founding of the nationwide relationship between the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs and the country’s academic medical centers. He told the committee that the University of Illinois College of Medicine and Northwestern University’s College of Medicine were the first participants in the program.

Dr. King thanked Dr. Curry for the report. Ms. Craig Schilling inquired about trends and considerations for upcoming challenges. Dr. Curry referred to pressure points and access to care, both primary and specialty. He noted that there has been a dramatic increase in psychiatry residents. Dr. Barish added that there are not enough residency slots, which he said is a national issue. Dr. King asked about the implications on reproductive care of a family medicine residency with a Catholic medical system. Dr. Curry referred to arrangements with non-Catholic partners at which the residents obtain the necessary training, noting that the ACGME requires residents to be trained in all aspects of reproductive health care. Dr. King expressed the importance of training medical students in the full breadth of reproductive care.

PRESENTATION

The Future: Surgical Innovation

Next, Dr. King asked Dr. Giulianotti to give a presentation on surgical innovation and the future (materials on file with the secretary). Dr. Giulianotti reported on the role of robotic surgery in medicine now and in the future and said that it is an expensive technology that provides democratic delivery of care and better equality of medicine. He reported on the advantages of robotic surgery for the patient, surgeon, and society, and he referred to a complex and difficult surgery performed robotically on a patient who is a Jehovah’s Witness that resulted in minimal blood loss. Dr. Giulianotti reported on increasing rates of the use of robotic surgery worldwide and listed his experience performing robotic surgeries. Dr. Giulianotti showed images of the University of Illinois College of Medicine Surgical Innovation Training Lab, which he said is successful. He thanked the committee for giving him an opportunity to share this vision. Brief discussion followed, and Dr. Giulianotti remarked on the benefits of robotic surgery, including limited blood loss. He commented on the future of robotic surgery and what potential developments may result in additional benefits. President Killeen highlighted the decreased costs, along with improved outcomes and access. He thanked Dr. Giulianotti for the presentation.
